

John Watts has been at Texas Discovery Gardens since 2009 but has been in the live butterfly/insect exhibition industry since 1994. He first started out at the Cockrell Butterfly Center in Houston and also did a stint at the Butterfly Pavilion in Westminster CO before settling in Dallas. His specialty in college was insect husbandry and his favorite group are chrysomelids or leaf beetles.