

John Watts has been at Texas Discovery Gardens since 2009 but has been in the live butterfly/insect exhibition industry since 1994. He began his career at the Cockrell Butterfly Center in Houston followed by a position at the Butterfly Pavilion in Westminster Colorado before settling in Dallas. His specialty in college was insect husbandry and his favorite group is chrysomelids or leaf beetles.