

Judy Meagher is a Master Gardener, Master Naturalist and member of the Native Plant Society and an educator for all of these organizations. Her favorite topic is beneficial insects and how we can care for them. Every Tuesday morning, rain or shine, cold or hot, she heads up a work group that helps keep the Texas Discovery Garden's Benny Simpson and the butterfly gardens looking their best. In 2023, she received a Presidential Award in recognition of her contribution of more than 40,000 volunteer hours to our community.
